But this expectation has been dispelled, though the Netherlands Chinamen; severely beaten, and robbed of $17 policy has not been altered. The struggle still goes on with seemingly as little prospect as ever of its coming to an end. A corres. pondent of the Penang Gazette at Kotta Rajah has been giving his views on the subject to that paper, and he certainly gives a very uncheerful idea of the state of affairs in this turbulent and unsettled province. The inactivity of the Dutch has proved anything but masterly, while their treatment of the Achinese has not been marked by sagacity. There seems from their earliest intercourse to have been an animosity to the Dutch which the Achinese have not displayed to other foreigners. At the latter end of the sixteenth century whon the Acheen monarchy was in the zenith of its prosperity, the Sultan arrogating to himself the title of King of Sumatra, the port of Acheen had a flourishing trade in which vessels from all parts of security. Nevertheless there is good reason to believe that if more tact had been displayed and more liberality exercised by the Dutch order might have been restored and the always shown the friendliest disposition to the English and a strong disposition to trust The dotails will appear in to-morrow's issue, and in their good faith, but rightly or wrongly they seem to distrust the Dutch and latterly to despise their military tactics. This much to be regretted, for whatever mistakes the Dutch Authorities may have made in of their agreements, we cannot doubt they are genuinely trying now to conciliate the natives and govern the country fairly. But they must recognize the different spirit that animates the fierce and indomitable Achinese to that which governs the tamer Javanese; and the utmost care and cleanliness are exercised in not expect the former to submit to be ruled with the same unbending laws. If they are t exercise real sway over Acheen it will have to be with the goodwill of the natives or after they have been wiped out. They must try conciliation in its broadest sense or they

The following is the report of the Jeleb Singapore, 18th April, 1891.

The working of the Company's mines is still carried on chiefly on the Chinese tribute system, and the result o last half-year shows that that system, although it has great defects, may be turned to ad vantage under close watch.

the operations of the Company has been continually before your directors. They have had professional advice from various exper's but they have not yet taken any considerable steps in the matter, partly owing to the fact that the different professionalopinions were much at variance, and partly for lack of a good practical miner capable to carry out any of the various schemes under consideration. Your directors also took the opportunity to consult Mr. Humo Black, a director of the Runh Australian Syndicate, with the result that they have arranged to get from Australia a practical mining superintendent with a few Aus ralian minors, all of whom Mr. Hume Black kindly undertook to select and engage, and with the help of whom your directors hope to improve upon the prosent system of working and to onlarge the Company's operations. So far as possible the operations losses have be n written off. The other mines of the Company are all giving good return, as shown by an increased out-put with a smaller labour force. Your directors hope that with the experience gained in working they will in fature be able to better guard against large lesses and that nothing so great as the sum written off in the present and former accounts will appear in future accounts. Your directors are of opinion that the Company is in a sound and prosperous condition and that the prospects for the future are better now than they Finally your directors invite you to observe that the Company is now one of the largest producers of tin-ore in the Malay Peninsula, and that probably no other trading concern managed by Europeans more materially aids in developing the Peninsula's resources and in maintaining the revenue. Apart from the daty leviable by the Government of Jelebu on the quantities of the produced by the Company, the Company's operations lead to other sources of revenue; and it may be taken as certain that the Company's contribution to the revenue of Jelebu is. at the present time on a larger scale than the whole revenues of that State in the year 1889. Your directors are glad to note that the Government has been on the whole helpful and sympathetic in the 360,818.558 difficulties amidst which the Company has carried on 10,825,360 its work, and your directors believe that the increaseing success of the Company, and the samest desire to treat all parties fairly, will tend to bahance that calling. The difficulties of the Company's working should be decreased by the fact, that, in consequence of the opening of the Sungai Ujong Ballway, the headon attersare now within twenty-four, hours journey of Singapore, with which also they are in immediate telegraphic.communication.

TIENTSI N.

We are having a few days of very chilly weather for the time of year. Fires have to be relighted, and it is uncomfortable moving about without a top coat. The French Municipal Council are agitating the question of water works, and proposing that the English Municipality join them in the project. This is a step in the right direction, but with a heavy debt for an expensive Town Hall, which was far from being a necessity, and undesirable under present conditions, it is by no means sure that the latter will see its way to this most desirable addition to the Settlement.

. We understand that the Taku Tug and Light. er Co. did a good business last month, clearing over Tls. 50,000. The waterway still continues good, and steamers come right up to the settlement as of old, and the state of the channel appears to be about as formerly, -Daily News correspondent.
